STRATEGIC PLANNING THAT WORKS

WITH

JANE GARTHSON

PRESIDENT, GARTHSON LEADERSHIP CENTRE

Are you satisfied with what your organization is achieving, or do you want even more? Learn how to set direction differently, to achieve your organization's highest potential.

If you are the champion of strategic planning in your organization – or stuck with the task – this workshop is for you. Let one of Canada's most experienced and respected leadership consultants introduce you to a strategic planning approach that works!

Join us in this workshop to learn:

- ☑ How to set direction in a way that focuses the tireless efforts of your volunteers (and staff, if any) on what really improves your community
- ☑ How to engage your community in planning
- ☑ How to oversee the development of a strategic plan that gets results, attracts supporters and funds, builds enthusiasm, and stays relevant

About Jane Garthson, President, Garthson Leadership Centre

*Jane's mission is to create better futures for communities and organizations through values-based leadership. She has provided leadership services to community benefit organizations, nonprofits and governments since 1992. As Executive Director of a sports federation, she co-led a very successful turnaround. Past board positions include Chair, Ethics Practitioners' Association of Canada, and Commissioner and Chair of Governance, Ontario Racing Commission, and Treasurer, Cdn. Therapeutic Riding Association. She is currently President of an all-volunteer arts organization and Secretary of another. Jane authored two chapters in the acclaimed new book You and Your Nonprofit, and has written the monthly ethics columns for CharityVillage since 2003. Her honours certificate in Voluntary Sector Management and Leadership is from York University.*
